1. Put on gloves and dust mask
2. Bridge the inner and outer doors (bottom and up the sides) with heavy duty aluminum foil to keep the solids from falling in between the chamber and fouling the bottom where it cant be easily removed
3. Shovel the contents into a biodegradable and compostable bag then remove the foil and close the inner and outer doors.
4. Bring the bag to a burial site (away from foot traffic) and add a few buckets of water to the bag contents to hydrate the contents as it will only decompose when moist
5. Dig a hole and bury the bag under 6 inches of top soil under some trees or bushes where the nutrients will do the most good.
6. Dispose of the gloves, dust mask and the aluminum foil in a municipal solid waste container.
7. Mark and date the disposal site and enter it in a log that can be shown to health officials if necessary
